The Secret Annex

The Secret Annex was a small, hidden space behind a bookcase in the back of Otto Frank's business premises at 263 Prinsengracht in Amsterdam. The Frank family and four other people went into hiding there on July 6, 1942, after the Nazis began rounding up Jews in Amsterdam.

They lived in the Secret Annex for two years, until they were discovered by the Nazis on August 4, 1944.

The Secret Annex was a cramped and uncomfortable place to live. The eight people who lived there had to be very quiet during the day, so that they would not be heard by the people who worked in the business premises below. They also had to be careful not to make any noise that would attract the attention of the neighbors. The Secret Annex was a dangerous place to live, but it was also a place of hope and courage.

Anne Frank's Diary

Anne Frank began writing her diary on her thirteenth birthday, June 12, 1942. She wrote about her life in the Secret Annex, her hopes and dreams, and her fears for the future. Anne's diary is a remarkable document, written by a young girl who was living through a terrible time in history. It is a testament to the human spirit and a reminder of the importance of hope.

Anne Frank's diary was published after the war, and it has since been translated into more than 70 languages. It has been read by millions of people around the world, and it has inspired countless people to fight against injustice and oppression.

The Legacy of Anne Frank

Anne Frank died in the Bergen-Belsen concentration camp in 1945, just a few weeks before the war ended. She was only fifteen years old. But her legacy lives on. Anne Frank's diary is a reminder of the horrors of the Holocaust, but it is also a story of hope and courage. It is a story that can inspire us all to fight against injustice and oppression.
