Choosing the Right Board

The first step to surfing is choosing the right board. There are many different types of surfboards available, each with its own unique characteristics. The right board for you will depend on your height, weight, skill level, and the type of waves you plan to surf.

If you're a beginner, you'll want to choose a board that is relatively long and wide. This will make it easier to paddle and catch waves. As you progress, you can move to a shorter and narrower board that will allow you to perform more advanced maneuvers.

Mastering Advanced Maneuvers

Once you've chosen the right board, it's time to start learning how to maneuver it. The Cutterman Guide To Maneuvering Boards covers all the essential maneuvers, from basic turns to advanced aerials. With step-by-step instructions and clear photography, this book will help you master even the most difficult moves.

Some of the advanced maneuvers covered in the book include:

- The snap
- The floater
- The cutback
- The aerial
